

Occupational and Environmental Medical Association of Canada 39th Annual Scientific Conference

CALL FOR POSTERS

Researchers and practicing clinicians interested in occupational and environmental medicine will meet in Victoria, British Columbia, Canada from September 11-13, 2022, for the Annual Scientific Conference of the Occupational and Environmental Medical Association of Canada (OEMAC). OEMAC is an organization of Canadian physicians interested in all aspects of occupational and environmental health.

The OEMAC conference attracts 150+ delegates from three groups: occupational medicine physicians, family physicians with interest and experience in occupational medicine, and other healthcare professionals with specific education and experience related to occupational health.

If you are interested in presenting a poster of your research, please contact us. Presenters will have the opportunity to interact with conference attendees at their poster during the Welcome Reception which is held on the Sunday evening of the conference.

Instructions for abstract submission:

- Abstracts cannot exceed 250 words.
- Please also supply a summary sentence (max 50 words) for possible use in the program, author contact information (name, address, email), and a list of contributing authors.
- Abstracts must be submitted in English or French.
- No tables or illustrations may be included in abstracts.
- Deadline for abstract submission is June 15, 2022.
- The conference planning committee will review all submitted abstracts.
- Notice of acceptance will be sent by email in June 2022. Once accepted and confirmed for inclusion in the program, conference registration of the presenter is required within 30 days of acceptance, as a condition of inclusion. Presenters will receive further instructions on poster dimensions in the notice of acceptance.
- No financial assistance is available to presenters for travel, registration or accommodation.
